

Publication: The Global Recruiter

Date: 4th October 2014

URL: <http://www.theglobalrecruiter.com/news/anz/further-efficiencies-in-the-frame-from-latest-talent-management-solution-update/5534>

The voice for the global staffing industry

ERECRUIT NEW RELEASE

Further efficiencies in the frame from latest talent management solution update.

NGA NET have announced a new release of its award-winning talent management software eRecruit. The solution helps recruiting professionals in government agencies and private enterprises improve the hiring process by saving time, reducing costs and helping organisations find, attract and onboard top talent more quickly. The new release offers a completely redesigned user interface and homepage intended to improve the productivity of recruitment and HR professionals. The new easy-to-use interface matches how recruitment professionals work today.

eRecruit's updated cloud-based technology enhances mobile use. This allows HR professionals to use the talent acquisition technology on smartphones and tablets. For example, using a tablet, an HR professional could create an application, review assessments and move candidates along the hiring process. Meanwhile managers can monitor the status of jobs and applications from their smartphone.

Karen Evans, managing director, Asia Pacific, NGA.NET, commented: "We want to help government agencies and private organisations find better candidates more quickly, and onboard their new employees more efficiently. This new release of eRecruit improves hiring practices for recruiting professionals."

Evans continued: "Recruitment and HR professionals' daily work practices have evolved due to mobile technology. People may need to access a candidate's application while working remotely, on the go, or in a meeting. However, in a job function where much is confidential, secure yet usable mobile technology has been thin on the ground. eRecruit's enhanced mobile support has been designed for the way tech-savvy HR professionals want to work."

Karl Matthews, chief product officer, NGA.NET, said: "The improved user experience of eRecruit makes recruitment professionals' lives easier. Intuitive design features make hiring workflows easy to progress. When a user logs in, the most important actions that the HR department needs to complete are prioritised. Our continued commitment to technological innovation is what has allowed us to become a leader in talent acquisition and talent management."